

INDEMNITY FOR CLINICIANS PRESCRIBING MEDICAL CANNABIS

Prescribing medical cannabis is a specialist area of practice. Your indemnity needs to understand it too.

That's why the Medical Cannabis Clinicians Society (MCCS) and Primus Indemnity are working together to give clinicians access to specialist medical indemnity that meets the requirements of their practice, without unnecessary complexity or cost.

Expertise, From Both Sides

The Medical Cannabis Clinicians Society is an independent, not-for-profit network led by some of the UK's foremost experts in cannabis medicine. Through expert guidance, peer support and CPD-accredited training, MCCS helps clinicians prescribe with greater knowledge and confidence.

When it came to indemnity, MCCS wanted to make sure clinicians had the right protection at the right price, supported by people who genuinely understand the medical indemnity market.

That's where Primus come in.

Primus is the UK's leading medical indemnity provider, combining specialist market knowledge with access to leading insurers and experienced medical legal teams. We take the time to understand the work our clients actually do and make sure the protection behind them is fit for purpose.

Two specialist organisations. One shared aim for clinicians: making indemnity one less thing for you to worry about, so you can focus on what you do best.
